Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Economy of Farming While engaged, for the last two winters, at Washington, in preparing the Agricultural Statistics for the Report of the Commissioner of Patents, I became acquainted with Charles L. Fleischmann, Esq., one of the Draughtsmen in the Patent Office, distinguished for his versatility of talents, and an accomplished scholar in the polite arts as well as in science. This gentleman is a native of Bavaria, and was educated at the Royal Agricultural Institution of Schleisheim, then under the charge of Professors Thierl, Schonleutner, and Veit, scientific men and practical agriculturists. Mr. F. took so high a rank in his studies, that he not only gained the first premiums of his class, but was also selected, at the early age of nineteen, to be the Administrator or Director of the Estate of Count Joseph Erkingen Von Leinsheim, situated on the Danube, and which comprised not less than twenty-four villages, containing numerous farms, mills, brewery, c. In this office of high trust and responsibility, Mr. F. remained for eight years, during which time the Estate, which had previously run down, became greatly improved by his management. Shortly after the death of the old Count, he left for the purpose of travel, with letters of high recommendation to Count Lasteyie, President of the Board of Agriculture, and other distinguished men of Science in Paris; and afterwards, led by the love of liberty, came to this country, where he was for some years engaged in business at the West. He has, therefore, had an opportunity to compare the modes of agriculture practised in different countries. After my acquaintance with him, he frequently expressed a wish that...
